TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN

It is with great pleasure I recommend Ekaksh Goyal, a student of grade 11 at Lotus Valley International School, Noida, Uttar Pradesh, India to pursue the summer program at your institution. I have known Ekaksh Goyal in my capacity as his Guidance Counsellor at the school and I am thoroughly impressed by his curiosity driven personality and commitment towards working within the field of computer science.

Ekaksh has gained hands-on experience within this field through various internships and research projects. As a Cybersecurity and Data Analysis Intern at Teerthankar Mahavir University, he assisted in developing an application that detects software crashes. His work in data analysis contributed to the development of a sign language detection tool that translates hand movements into spoken English. He has also interned at Jitin Chawla's Centre for Career Development as a digital marketing intern and at SAAR Education Pvt. Ltd., where he honed his graphic design and media outreach skills. His research paper on AI in Automobiles, published in the International Journal of Scientific Development and Research, further demonstrates his curiosity in this field. Furthermore, Ekaksh has an interest in Entrepreneurship and attended the Entrepreneurship Essentials workshop held at Indian Institute of Technology (IIT), Delhi and learned about its core principles including market dynamics, customer-centric strategies, and crafting effective business models.

Ekaksh's extracurricular achievements and participation is also commendable. He is an exceptional public speaker who has hosted and participated in various school events, including Model United Nations, drama and theatrical performances, film-making contests, and panel discussions, securing first position in a debate competition. As a musician, he has performed as a drummer at 'Music Factory', showcasing his talent at Ashoka University, the Ganga Cleaning Drive, performances for cancer patients, and the Noida Talent Contest, where he secured first place.

Ekaksh is also a compassionate leader which is evident by his dedicated work with Aarambh Trust for Women and Children, where, as the youngest volunteer he founded the youth wing and led various youth-driven initiatives to support underprivileged communities. His leadership at Aarambh Trust extended to social awareness campaigns and marketing strategies for the NGO. Additionally, as a member of the school's Interact Club, he contributed towards blood donation drives and has consistently donated at various donation drives led by the school.

To conclude, Ekaksh is an innovative, hardworking and dedicated student with a deep passion towards computer science. I am confident that he will gain success in anything he sets his heart to and recommend him to pursue the summer program at your esteemed institution. I wish him best of luck for all his pursuits.
